

Hygiene measures to protect against COVID-19 infection

Since 9 October, a hygiene and infection protection concept for the containment of the corona virus has been in force at Leipzig University, which is also binding for the CASHSS "Multiple Secularities". Among other things, it includes basic rules on access to buildings, rules on social distancing, room use, events and (official) travel, as well as individual protection measures. In addition, the university has defined various action scenarios, which depend on the respective incidence of infection in Leipzig and are displayed on the university's homepage with the help of a so-called "Corona-Ampel" (Coronavirus traffic light). We will continuously communicate the status of this traffic light and the associated restrictions by displaying a sign at our offices. The general regulations of Leipzig University result in the following regulations for work and office operations in the CASHSS "Multiple Secularities":
